Some of the Low-Priced China in Our August Sale.

There's a uniformity of value compared with price in our china, and the value is always the best to be had for the prices we ask.

For example—Our Pure-White English China Dinner Sets of 100 pieces at $10.00 are the best we can get to sell for ten dollars.

Our $11.00 Sets of English China have green border decorations—the dollar difference is in the extra work.

Our $12.50 Dinner Sets are a little finer than the others—not much, it's true, but enough to make the difference.

Our $13.50 Sets go up one more notch in value—the several pieces being all traced in gold and so on up the scale to the higher priced goods.

Now, Towser has a goodly dog. At night he dreamed upon a rug. At day played on the green.

But Towser had a fancy—My! For cats 'twas his delight To make the furry creatures fly In daytime or in night.

He chased a pussy down the street, 'Twas fun for him, "how wow!" Until the tiny kitten grew As big as a big cow.

Then Towser put his stubby tail Between his legs, and run, Of course, 'twas only but a dream, Still, dreaming's not all fun.

Now, Towser's friendly to the cats, Says: "Howdy do, how wow!" I guess it is because he fears I'll meet one like a cow.
